One In Four Drives To Class

One Loyola College student out of every 4.3 drives a car to class and parks it on the campus or on Cold Spring Lane, a survey conducted recently by THE GREYHOUND revealed.

Out of 185 vehicles checked, less than 60 were parked on the campus and 10 of these were parked in restricted areas. The majority of cars were parked on Cold Spring Lane with an overflow running north and south on Millbrook Road.

The first cars to be parked on the campus arrive shortly before 8 a. m. and by 8:15 all of the choice places on the campus and Cold Spring Lane are taken. It is estimated that between five and fifteen more vehicles could find places on both sides of Cold Spring Lane if those arriving early would park closer together.

The area between the Library and Science Buildings is reserved for faculty cars and commercial vehicles.

Spring Term Opens; Lasts Eight Weeks

Loyola's 1947 Spring Term began last Monday, May 19. The summer course, designed as part of the accelerated program enabling students to obtain a degree in three years, will extend for eight weeks, ending on July 16.

Enrollment for the Spring Term is only slightly less than that of the regular school year, exceeding 780 students. A total of 27 first and second year speech classes are being conducted.

Among the courses being offered during the spring are 20th Century American History, Modern British and American Literature, Mechanics, Money & Banking, Business Law, Cosmology, Calculus Preparatory and Trigonometry.

New members of the Faculty, added for the Spring Term, are Mr. John J. Pugh and Mr. James Perrott. Both are former students of Loyola, and both will teach speech.

Rehling Selected For Junior Prom

Carl Rehling and his fifteen-piece orchestra will provide the music for the annual Junior Prom, to be held on Saturday, June 7, it was announced last week by Paul Feeley, President of the class.

Committee heads for the event include the following: Chairman, Al Panuska; Programs, James Last-er, Manley Gately; Refreshments, Edward Vidali; Orchestra, Theodore Heying; Decorations, Joseph Davis; Favors, William Grill.

Former Polish Ambassador To Speak At Exercises

Guest speaker at the ninety-seventh commencement exercises at Loyola College will be Jan Ciechanowski, former Polish Ambassador to the United States. Mr. Ciechanowski served in the capacity of Ambassador to this country from February 1941 until July 1945 when he was notified by the American Government that it had extended recognition to the Soviet-sponsored provisional government in Warsaw. Upon notification of that decision, he immediately resigned.

Besides serving in the Polish Diplomatic Corps for more than 25 years, Mr. Ciechanowski has lectured at the Institute of Foreign Affairs in London and at the Diplomatic Academy in Paris. He is also the author of the book "Defeat In Victory", a factual and analytical account of his duties in Washington as Ambassador of Poland during the war years.

The former Ambassador, his wife and youngest son have recently become residents of the United States. The eldest of his three sons, John, is an active soldier in the Polish Army in the British Zone of Occupation in Germany. Another son, Ladislav, was killed in action while serving with the RAF in 1942. The youngest son, Stanislas, is a student at Georgetown University.

He studied in Germany and at the University of Birmingham where he graduated in Economics. In 1919, he acted as the Chief of the Secretariat of Mr. Ignace Pad-erewski at the peace conference in Paris.

Commencement exercises in honor of the largest graduating class in Loyola's history will be held on Sunday in the Gymnasium at 4 p. m. Sixty-four members of the May graduating class will receive their diplomas at this time while the diplomas of those who acquire sufficient credits by July will be awarded at a later date.

Guest speaker will be Jan Ciechanowski, former Ambassador of Poland to the United States. Thomas L. Lalley will give the Valedictory.

Honor 50 Year Class

The conferring of an honorary degree, the awarding of the Carroll Medal and the recognition of the fifty year class of the Alumni Association will also highlight the ceremonies.

Edward H. Burke, '06, will receive the Honorary Degree of Doctor of Laws. Mr. Burke is a member of the law firm of Bowie and Burke. He is also a member of the lay council of Loyola College.

The Rev. Joseph S. Didusch, S.J., professor of Biology at Loyola, will be awarded the Carroll Medal, presented annually to the alumnus whose efforts have been most outstanding in behalf of the college.

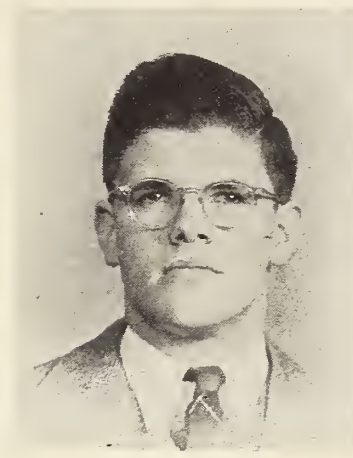

Class Of '22 Officiates

Earlier in the day, members of the Class of 1922 will officiate at the Baccalaureate Mass for the Seniors, their families and their friends. The Rev. J. Jennings Clark will be celebrant, the Rev. John J. Coniff, S.J., the deacon, and the Rev. Arthur Coniff, S.J., sub-deacon. The Rev. William J. Sweeney will preach the sermon.

Activity in Senior Week, immediately preceding the graduation, began on Wednesday evening, May 21, with the Senior Ball at the Alcazar. Music was furnished by Howard Strotherhoff, a member of the graduating class, and his band.

Tribute will be paid to the graduates at the Loyola Night revival tonight. Next Friday night, the Alumni Association will sponsor a Welcoming Dance for its new members. Free tickets are now

Thomas L. Lalley

... will address the Commencement Exercises as Valedictorian on "Liberalism". Lalley, an A.B. in History, was Editor of THE GREYHOUND, President of Debating, Associate Editor of the Yearbook, and active in the IRC while at Loyola.

Jenkins Debate Set For June 1

Debating activity will reach the high water mark on June 1 when four of the Bellarmine Debating Society's outstanding debaters engage in verbal combat in the Library at Evergreen over the proposition, "Resolved That Labor's Demand For A Guaranteed Annual Wage Should Be Granted." The winning side will be chosen by a board of three judges and the best speaker will be awarded the Jenkins Gold Medal for Debate.

The four speakers for the contest will be Raymond L. Clemmens, Terrence E. Burke, Edward F. Shea and Francis X. Gallagher. Attendance at the debate will be compulsory for speech classes.

Win Over Georgetown

In the last intercollegiate debate of the current season held at Georgetown University on May 9, Dudley M. Shoemaker and Raymond L. Clemmens scored a victory over the debaters of the Georgetown School Of Foreign Service. The Rev. Thomas J. Murray, S.J., Assistant Dean of the Foreign School, acted as critic-judge.

Debating the National College Topic, four representatives of the Society staged an exhibition debate before the members of the Engineer's Club of Baltimore on Monday, May 13.

Conference Meeting Here

The first step in the formation of the Mason-Dixon Debating Conference was taken when a meeting of several colleges was held here at Evergreen on May 4. A temporary constitution was drawn up and it was decided that a meeting would be held in October to get the machinery in operation for a regular conference schedule next year.

Seniors Make Annual Retreat

Sixty-six Loyola seniors made the traditional senior retreat at Manresa on April 28-30. With Father Samuel R. Pitts, S.J., as retreat master, the men attended Mass, listened to several instructions and prayed together in the chapel daily.

Father Robert S. Lloyd, S.J., director of the retreat house at Manresa, remarked that this group of men, composed mainly of veterans, exhibited a more mature interest in the retreat than any other previous Loyola group and was the best group of College Retreatants ever to attend Manresa.

The retreatants received Communion on the morning of the last day of the retreat in remembrance of the Loyola men who gave their lives in the recent war. Many expressed a wish to hold a reunion of their class for the purpose of making another retreat at Manresa.

Naval Reserve

This week, May 18 to 25, has been proclaimed Naval Reserve Week by the President. To the Navy it is "Operation Naval Reserve".

Its purpose is to bring the New Civilian Naval Reserve and its benefits to the attention of the nation. The reserve offers to veterans and to non-veterans 17 to 40 years of age training with pay in the Organized Reserve, or membership in the Volunteer Reserve without training.

Training centers and ships have been attached to the Baltimore area for those who desire weekly training periods. The only obligation a man assumes in enlisting is call to active duty in a national emergency, when he would be subject to the draft if not enrolled. At his own option he may change his status or resign. There is no loss of veterans' benefits.

Offered also is advancement, promotion, and increase in longevity. Veterans can be enrolled at Loyola. Inquiries can be made at THE GREYHOUND office.

Letters To The Greyhound

Corsages At Semi-Formals?

To the Editor of THE GREYHOUND:
Dear Sir:

Everyone who has been to a social affair higher than a hay-ride knows that the biggest single item of expense at a semi-formal dance is the florist's bill. The ordinary dance ticket costs less than the corsage.

Why has it become the universal custom to hand three, four, or five dollars to a florist every time a dance rolls around? When a class wants to hold a dance, it has to take in two considerations: a) a semi-formal dance means that a large percentage of the fellows won't be able to come because of the expense involved; b) an informal dance means that a large percentage of the fellows won't want to come.

I think the students are pretty well agreed that corsages would be a good thing to do away with, if it became universally accepted at the college. As for the girls, some complaints have already been voiced that an evening gown makes them feel too dressed up with the boy in a business suit. A corsage make it even more unbalanced. Of course, you could give the corsage to the boy and even things up, but that wouldn't help anything. To pacify the girls, it might also be pointed out that with the expense of corsages done away with, theoretically, they would go to twice as many dances.

There has to be a general movement barring corsages if the plan is to be effective. The most efficient way would be a council ordinance forbidding corsages at designated semi-formal dances. The Council, being the voice of the student body, can act only if a large percentage of the student body desire the change.

Especially at this time, when veterans are complaining that subsistence is not enough to ride home on, when non-veterans are complaining that veterans are lolling in luxury compared to their finances, and when everybody knows it's no joke financially to get through college, it is downright silly to waste money on mere convention.

Let's get together, men.

Signed,
Thomas F. Zeller

Dear Editor:

... THE GREYHOUND is a publication of the students of Loyola College, and since the students are mainly responsible for its large circulation, why do the same names appear in every edition of your paper?

Why not bring in a few new names occasionally if for no other reason than to hold the interest of your readers. Since when has the huge enrollment of Loyola College dwindled to a few handfuls of fellows who invariably break out in print?

Such a practice is not worthy of Loyola, though I'll admit it is the usual procedure in most school publications...

Sincerely,
Anita L. Freiert

Archbishop Curley:

Prelate Was Christlike

The eulogies and biographies written about Archbishop Curley since his recent death have been legion. Detailed accounts of the Prelate's life and deeds are too readily available to necessitate repetition here. Rather would we confine our remarks to the remarkable comparison extant between the Shepherd of the Baltimore-Washington Archdioceses and the life of the Great Shepherd, Jesus Christ.

Archbishop Curley's life was a living obedience to Christ's counsel to be poor in spirit. The prelate relegated only a few rooms of the Archbishop's large residence to his own use; he never owned an automobile; he used Cardinal Gibbons' vestments until outworn. With large sums of money at his disposal, his generosity was too well-known to be commented upon again.

The late Archbishop fulfilled the Catholic clergy's traditional devotion to the counsels of their perfect model, Christ: "Go, sell what thou hast and give it to the poor, and come—follow Me."

May the words of the Master be fulfilled upon His devoted servant, "Blessed are the poor in spirit, for theirs is the kingdom of Heaven."

Loyola Honors Jubilee Classes

The members of the Class of 1897 and of the Class of 1922 are being feted this week. On Thursday, the Very Rev. Edward B. Bunn, S.J., and the faculty of Loyola College gave a dinner in honor of the twenty-five year class of the Alumni Association. At the Commencement Exercises this Sunday, the surviving members of the Class of 1897 will be awarded golden jubilee medals.

The members of the Class of '22 who were honored are: the Rev. Roger J. Blankford, S.J., R. Emmet Bradley, Clarence J. Caulfield, Robert A. Coolahan, Dr. Frank Di Paula, the Rev. Kenneth L. Graham, S.J., Lt. Com William D. Hodges, the Very Rev. Edward A. Kerr, S.J., Thomas G. Marcin, A. Paul Menton, Carroll A. Reed and Cornelius F. Sybert.

The surviving members of the Class of 1897 are: Most Rev. John M. McNamara, Auxiliary Bishop of Baltimore and Washington, the Rt. Rev. Msgr. William A. Toolen, the Rev. Herman I. Storck, S.J., Robert H. Carr, John J. Haverkamp and Dr. John C. Pound.

Revised Evergreen To Appear June 30

The first post-war issue of the Loyola College Evergreen will appear on June 30, it was announced this week by Dudley M. Shoemaker, editor-in-chief of the publication.

An entire new format has been planned and James W. Bradley has designed a cover which will have a photograph in the center. The photograph will be changed every issue. As in the past, the magazine will be published four times a year.

The staff of The Evergreen has been holding meetings in room 101 every Tuesday afternoon. The staff hopes to obtain office space in the temporary buildings when they are ready for occupancy.

Studies, Children Clash, Say Fathers

by William Heffner

Homework and housework don't mix too well, agree a number of fathers around the campus. In an informal poll conducted by THE GREYHOUND, most of the fathers agreed that the little toddlers might indeed be blessings from heaven but they do not create an atmosphere conducive to cramming.

Leonard Crump smiled sadly when we asked him if homemaking interfered with his school work.

"I stayed up until one o'clock for the chemistry semester examination the other day. At two o'clock, Junior took over. I stayed up until six o'clock."

"Oh" we said.

"There are things you try to forget", he said, "and that chemistry mark is one of them. No doubt about it, though, a family provides an incentive to work."

Bill Healy, married three years, named his son Michael Driscoll Healy after a well-known moderator of a local paper. We thought Bill had it worked out pretty well until we learned that he did not have Mr. Driscoll in class.

"A family definitely interferes with school work," Bill said. "Everyone has just so much power of concentration and when a family takes up some of it, the school's going to lose some of it. Raising a family is a science. You've got to work. Now take the matter of diapers. There's a right way and a wrong way—"

"That's right" we said, excusing ourselves hastily. Bill also agreed that while a family might make conditions difficult, it also furnishes an incentive to work seriously.

Gus Genson claims the same thing. "It's not the easiest thing in the world, but it certainly is possible. I find that it does not interfere with study too much."

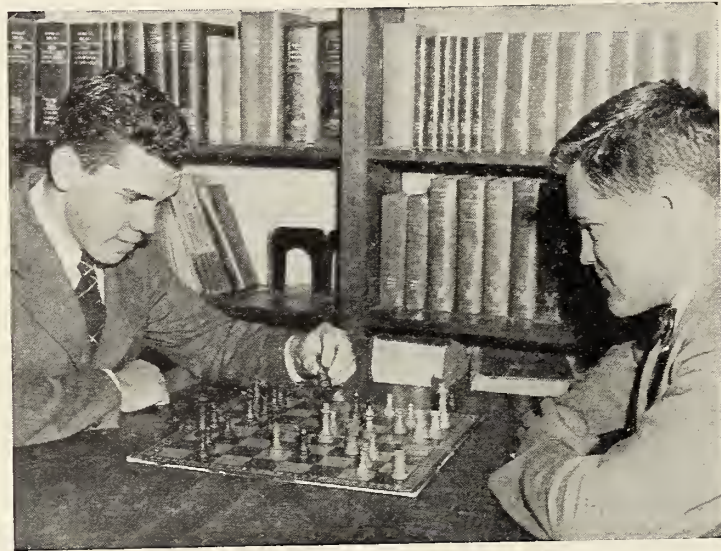

Crenson, Jr., is well past the diaper stage, which might explain his optimistic attitude.

Lister, who does not have any children, was even more optimistic.

"I find that married life and school life work very well together. And it's a big incentive to serious work."

This sounded interesting, so we asked a few more questions.

"My wife," Lister explained finally, "is a chemist. Incidentally, I got the second highest mark in Organic."

Jim Bradley is making a crucial move in an intra-club game with Phil Lohrey in a between-period chess game in the library.

One year has seen the Chess Club rise from infancy to become one of the most active and progressive organizations in the school.

Eleven matches have been played this year and the club has won six and lost five.

Highlight of the season was the recent win over the Naval Academy. Two members of last year's team which was defeated by Navy in their first inter-collegiate match were on hand this year to get revenge. Tom Comber succeeded by beating the same man to whom he lost last year but Phil Lohrey, the other returnee and a winner last year, was defeated.

Besides Navy, the chess team has defeated both Poly and City twice and the Faculty once. They have dropped one match to City, two to Georgetown and one each to Fordham and Rutgers.

During the coming summer, the club plans to engage the many chess clubs around the city. By doing this, they hope to make the Loyola Chess Club known throughout Baltimore.

At present, the club is seeking to obtain medals to be presented to the members of the team as a reward for their service.

If obtained, they will be given to Phil Lohrey, Jim Bradley, Bob Bordley, Francis Mcfarland, Ed Rowles, and Bob Fusting. Special award will go to Bob Fusting who came out on top in a recent intra-club tournament.

Individual records are as follows:

Name	Won	Lost	Tie
Bob Fusting	5	1	0
Ed Rowles	5	3	0
Bob Bordley	5	4	1
Jim Bradley	6	5	0

What, Why and When:

This Student Council!

It is the most important student activity at Evergreen, because it is a combination of all extra-curricular activities. But it would easily be the most unsung and unpublicized organization at Loyola were it not for the rather spirited annual election of the President of the Student Council.

What the average students knows about the mechanics of the Council could be written on the back of the proverbial postage stamp. The shame of this condition is that it is not the fault of the student; he has been given too little opportunity to become acquainted with Council doings.

This condition of blissful ignorance would be acceptable if it were not for the fact that the Council is important as it is, and that it can be made even more vital and effective. This editorial, then, is to be informative: let us see in outline what are the purposes of the Council, how these purposes are carried out, and what plans in general are being made for increased Council activity during the coming year.

Why It Exists . . .

What exactly is the Council for? To quote in part from the preamble to its Constitution, these purposes are "The awakening and sustaining of school spirit in all activities . . . The promotion of closer and better understanding among students . . . The initiation and promotion of any and all kinds of student endeavor . . . The responsibility for the welfare of incoming freshmen."

To accomplish these purposes, weekly meetings have been held during the past year. Presidents of classes and of all recognized extra-curricular activities met at 12:30 on Tuesdays in the Rector's office. Fr. Bunn and Dr. Doehler were present as Faculty Moderators.

How It Works . . .

At these meetings, class and activity representatives report on the progress of their groups since the last meeting. Dates for future meetings and contests are set. Classes desiring to sponsor a dance must have the date chosen approved by the Council, to prevent conflict with other dances.

Following class and activity reports, Council business as such is discussed. Important among last term's discussions was the fixing of the Council tax on dances at 5¢ per ticket. If elections are to be held in any class, a member of the Council's executive board is assigned to supervise them. At the beginning of each year plans are laid for welcoming members of the new Freshman class.

Weak Spots . . .

Several weak points in general Council operation were spotted and discussed during the recent campaigns. No formal system of class elections is laid down by the Council Constitution. Plans are under discussion at present to amend the Constitution on this point with a definite program for class elections.

A new system of class elections should be in effect by September.

P. A. System . . .

Recognizing the inadequacy of bulletin boards and word-of-mouth dissemination of club news, Dudley Shoemaker, Austin Byrd, Robert Gallagher and several others have been investigating the possibility of installing a public address system in the Cafeteria, the Science Building Recreation Room and in the new Gymnasium addition. Short news broadcasts during lunch periods followed by low-volume music would be an effective method of giving the student easy knowledge of college affairs.

Also under consideration are plans for an "activity calendar"—a bulletin board for the exclusive use of the Student Council. Centrally located and kept up-to-date, the calendar would list that day's extra-curricular meetings: times, places, and topics.

Class Meeting Period . . .

There seems to be a good possibility of THE GREYHOUND's "One Period A Week For Class Meetings" plan being adopted in September. This would probably be the single most effective method of guaranteeing representative, frequent, effective class meetings.

We cannot conclude without a word about student participation in Council affairs. Every student at Loyola is a background member of the Council. Suggestions made by him to any Council member will be unfailingly brought up for discussion by the Council.

As college enrollment increases, so must the effectiveness of Student Council activity increase. It is well worth the student's while to carefully watch Council progress . . . and to see that more than the mere installation of a door-knob on the Cafeteria booth is accomplished.

Condolences:

The Moderator and Staff of THE GREYHOUND extend their sympathy to the family of Mr. Harry Klug, of the firm of Meyer and Thalheimer, who died on May 14. Mr. Klug was instrumental for many years in aiding Loyola's student publication.

Entertainment Calendar

STAGE:

Loyola Night tonight at Evergreen features two one-act comedies, glee club recital, vaudeville acts, orchestra renditions, and a dance after the show . . . Get your invitations today!

The Vagabond Players will present School For Scandal by Sheridan beginning next week. Harry Welker will star in the production which is slated for an eight-week run.

MOTION PICTURES:

Mayfair is currently showing the old thriller-epic Last of The Mohicans . . . this was made in the days when pictures were really gigantic undertakings and not fifty-minutes or so of "anything-goes". Parkway shows Suddenly It's Spring . . . starring Fred MacMurray and Paulette Goddard . . . hilarious show on a touchy subject . . .

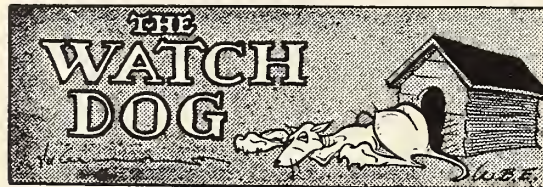

if you want to laugh, see this!

New Theatre presents The Homestretch . . . technicolor . . . starring Cornel Wilde and Maureen O'Hara in the first picture where she wasn't kidnaped by pirates . . . an unusual horse-play.

The Stanley re-presents two sea epics, The Sea Hawk with E. G. Robinson and The Sea Wolfe . . . Flynn is the usual dashing sword-wielder and Robinson is as usual, just smashing—everyone in sight.

Keiths presents Ray Milland and Teresa Wright in The Imperfect Lady . . . a really great love story . . . unusual and bringing together for the first time the two academy award winners of '45 and '46.

Also recommended is The Yearling currently playing at the Valencia . . . starring Gregory Peck, Jane Wyman and Claude Jarman.

THE QUEEN'S BALL advertising campaign turned this place into an art gallery, with all the pictures of aides adorning the walls—Not that anybody minds. In fact, Lou Roche brought Mariangela over just to show her the pictures. By the way, Sid, is this a family affair? . . . Standing by one of the pictures, the Watchdog heard three naive lads proudly point to the same picture and exclaim "I'm taking her!" We hope to be able to give you the results next issue . . . Did that Irish Setter seen in the cafeteria recently have anything to do with the snapshot of a bulldog posted among the aides? Or has Fanny registered?

SPEAKING ABOUT BALLOTS, which we weren't, you can expect to see Jack Pryor coming to school any day now with a "boss" hat and a big black cigar. He claims that approximately one-half of the Democratic votes in the recent election were the result of his campaigning. Too bad Jim O'Neill couldn't have employed him; perhaps Dudley (That doorknob will have to wait until after I'm inaugurated) Shoemaker would have been given a stiffer battle. Seems George (I don't promise anything) Buchness and Dick (I haven't got anything to promise) Rebbert could have used Jack's talents, too.

HEARD AROUND THE CAMPUS: At a recent baseball game, Mary from Boston was there trying to find out what she could about Dick Farace, especially his romantic connections. And only after one date with Dick . . . heard in the Dean's Office: "I really don't mind being a first semester sophomore, Miss McDonald, but this is the fourth time we've been called that!" . . . and in the chateau: "The baseball team owes us two windows—so far."

THERE AIN'T NO JUSTICE: Who, when he called up a certain local lass and asked her to return from a trip to Philadelphia for a date, got a refusal? And who else named Tom Gisriel called up the same local lass, asked the same question, got a definite "yes"? . . . That was very neatly done when Tilly called up Vince Gallagher for a date and then stood him up . . . Rodge (I got a sister) Kines, who has been traveling to far-off Dundalk for the past four months to date Terry, was delighted when he heard she was moving. She did last week—to Gwynn Oak Junction . . . Tom Carney's ring disappeared, but the Watchdog found it in the senior class of Mt. St. Agnes High School.

BUSINESS MEN: Bob Cook selling chances for St. John's softball team on a combination chromium sink and faucet. "Genuine chromium," Bob insists . . . Meanwhile we noticed Emmet O'Brien operating an ice-cream concession for some "non-student rooters" at recent tennis matches . . . Bill Heffner claims he's going to compile those letters to Janet written since the phone strike into a book.

RADIATION DEP'T . . . Did anybody see Tom Padden light up like a neon sign when Miss America of 1899 pulled that wise one at Munder's. Everybody was glowing . . . but Tom just glowed and glowed.

Books

by Cyril Keller

The Loyola Library is being supplied with all of the best in the literary field. Here are two of the new volumes that have arrived recently.

The Tin Flute—

Gabrielle Roy

Montreal during the War is the scene of this pleasing novel of a waitress in Woolworth's.

Although the book was originally written in French, it lost none of the writer's fine style during the translation. The outstanding quality of the book is the tendency toward characterization, rather than toward plot development. The War background for the story is perhaps one of the few drawbacks. However, the story will bring back many memories of a time that is past.

Aurora Dawn—

Herman Wouk

It is seldom that a contemporary writer breaks away from the modern trends in writing, but when he does, the work is usually outstanding. This is exactly what Herman Wouk has done in this book. The story is not written in the realistic style that has become overcommon, but in the style of the 18th Century writers. The book was written during the War in the south Pacific, and is one of the finest novels to reach the book-shelves in the past few years.

The book could well be classed as a rich man's version of The Hucksters. In short it is an intelligent satire of the advertising business written in a lofty style. The satire is very subtle in comparison to the racy manner in which The Hucksters was authored. These two works make a fine comparison. The Hucksters is as realistic as possible while Aurora Dawn is a truly magnificent example of idealistic literary endeavor.

Running With The Hounds

by M. F. Mackey

Two of Loyola's spring sports teams have won the Mason-Dixon Conference Championship—tennis and golf. Both these teams were at the top of the league throughout the season and were favored to win. At this writing, the baseball team has wound up its conference schedule and is within a few percentage points of Washington College in the battle for the trophy. To Father William V. Herlihy's golfers and Vince Colimore's netmen: congratulations in the name of all Evergreen faus. The hard-hitting, alert baseball team, with Lefty Reitz coaching, have turned in a very good record despite playing a long, hard schedule. Thus, in three out of five sports Loyola is at the top of the Mason-Dixon loop. With many of the same athletes returning next year, the Greyhounds should retain that position.

The track and lacrosse teams, of course, have had a very rough season. In both cases there was not enough talent on the teams compared to the opposition. But Bill McElroy has had his cinderman practicing regularly and they have been improving toward the end of the season. Few people have had any complaints about track since McElroy took over. The lacrosse situation has engendered much more unfavorable comment, often to the extent of ridicule.

We have examined this lacrosse setup thoroughly. The writer knows nothing about the art of playing lacrosse. But we are concerned here with the kind of organization the team has had and which, ultimately, is responsible for the ridicule the team has gotten. Several players were interviewed and the Athletic Director and Faculty Moderator expressed their opinions.

To begin, the lacrosse team does not presently have either the talent or the coaching sufficient to win the games it should. They have been too far outclassed to put the entire burden on Coach Bish Baker. Many of the players feel the coach is not qualified to direct them. The result, naturally, is not the kind of coordination essential to any organization. But because both the student and team opinion is concentrated on Baker, it is important to point out that the team itself does not possess enough talent to play in the same class with Hopkins and Maryland. It is the opinion of this writer that Loyola should make every effort to schedule schools in its own class in lacrosse. We should continue to play Hopkins and Maryland and Duke etc., but the schedule should be rounded out with opposition of the same caliber as the Greyhounds. In time, with better coaching and talent, the team will play better ball against the game's best teams.

Lefty pointed out that if the Catholic high schools in town played more lacrosse, Loyola could expect more talented players to enroll here. St. Joe is presently the only Catholic high school which fields a lacrosse team in this city.

The solution, therefore, is not to drop the sport or even cease scheduling the big teams. With the advent of better players and able coaching, Loyola will do all right. It is stupid to remark that a good coach should be able to teach any group enough lacrosse to have a winning team. The student body will achieve nothing by confining its efforts to ridicule. Writeups such as Loyola received after the Hopkins game are hard to take. But the players certainly don't find them any easier to read. We were definitely a "soft touch" for Hopkins; that fact wasn't news.

Loyola expects only this of its teams: a hard, clean battle against all opposition. If the lacrosse team played that way and the score was 19-1, criticism and especially ridicule are out of place.

THE GREYHOUND will have a new Sports Editor with the advent of the next issue. Nobody hates swan-song exits like this little boy. But the many students and alumni who read this paper should know that the faculty, the editor-in-chief and the photography editor have cooperated with the sports department of this paper in an ideal manner. We have had a free hand in the matter of photos, layout and copy. A very few items were ever censored and then, usually, for the paper's own good. With an even further increase in frequency and the interest of more men in sports reporting, THE GREYHOUND SPORTS will be the best in the collegiate field.

Since entering this school in 1941, we have had an opportunity to survey Greyhound sports over a period of years, either as a student or an avid reader of THE GREYHOUND while in the Army. Sports at Loyola are really moving fast. Greyhound teams have already taken three, possibly four Mason-Dixon Championships within the past year.

1947 finds Loyola at the top of the league!

On this play Lind crashed into the rival catcher, who was standing a yard in front of the plate. Umpire Artigiani awaits the play.

Hound Baseball Team Wins Three Mason-Dixon Games

The Greyhound baseball team won its eleventh straight game by defeating Towson State Teachers in a Mason-Dixon Conference encounter at Evergreen last Monday, by a score of 12 to 5.

John Evelius pitched for Loyola until the seventh when Dick Yeisley was called in to preserve the Loyola lead. The Teachers got a total of seven hits off both pitchers, while Loyola collected 15 off two Towson hurlers.

Jack Whalen and Jim Carmody each rapped out three hits for the Greyhounds; Johnny Amer and Harry Schock got two singles apiece. This win gave Loyola a 13-3 record in the Mason-Dixon Conference.

Hounds Whip Terrors

Loyola gained another Mason-Dixon Conference victory on May 9th when the Greyhound baseball team downed Western Maryland by a 10-7 score. The game was played on the Terrors' oval.

At the end of the sixth inning the contest was tied up 4-4, but the Hounds broke loose in their half of the seventh. A six run barrage in that frame gave them an advantage which the home team was never able to overcome.

The Greyhound baseball team added another victory on May 3rd by defeating Randolph-Macon 4-2 on the Yellowjackets' diamond. Greyhounds Win Two Games From American Univ.

The Greyhound baseball team added two more victories to their conference record by taking both ends of a double header from American University at Evergreen on May 16th. The scores were 9-0 and 5-2.

Bill Carroll took the hill for the Hounds in the first contest and turned in a no-hit performance. Aided by ten safeties from his teammates and seven Eagle errors, Carroll was never under pressure. Loyola took a 2-0 lead in the last half of the second stanza and were never headed, as they scored in every inning but the fourth.

Farace On Mound

In the second game of the afternoon Dick Farace took over the pitching operations and chalked up a four hit performance. McClaughla, the American U. twirler, allowed three hits, but his control was weak and he issued nine walks. These plus three costly errors enabled Loyola to jump into a 3-0 lead in the second, which they flattened with a single tally in the third and another in the fifth inning.

Spence Davidson Appointed Greyhound Sports Editor

Spence Davidson, veteran GREYHOUND sports scribe, has been appointed the paper's new sports editor, succeeding Maurice F. Mackey. He will hold this position for the coming year.

Spence Davidson

The new editor graduated from McDonogh in 1942 and entered Loyola College the following September. He immediately became a member of THE GREYHOUND Sports Staff and wrote a series of by-lined articles before induction into the Army in July, 1943. Davidson served as a Field Artilleryman in the European Theater.

Returning to Loyola last September, he continued sports-scribing for THE GREYHOUND and wrote the popular column, "We See By The Papers". Easily the humorist of the staff, Davidson will continue to write this column, and the sports editor's official column "Running With The Hounds."

"We will try to assure readers of THE GREYHOUND complete coverage of all sports events at Loyola and frequent feature articles," Davidson remarked. "With the same fine cooperation from the photography staff, the sports pages will continue to be printed as attractively as possible.

"The sports staff will sponsor several interesting features next year. We need the help of several students in writing sports news and features. If we get it, THE GREYHOUND Sports will be the best yet.

"This paper may be published weekly with the same number of pages as at present. If so, we will be able to report more of the games at length. We would appreciate the aid of the players, students and coaches in furnishing THE GREYHOUND available sports news."

Hopkins Ten Swamps Hounds By 19-1 Count

The Greyhound lacrosse team collided with Johns Hopkins last Saturday at Homewood and were defeated by a 19-1 count. The Blue Jay aggregation, the most powerful ten operating in inter-collegiate circles this year, had little difficulty in marking up their seventh straight victory of the year to remain undefeated.

Howdie Myer's aggregation drew first blood seconds after the initial face-off when Wolman, on a pass from DeBuskey, flipped one past Skip Barry for a tally. Three minutes later they added another to move into a 2-0 lead.

Mohler Scores

John Mohler made the Greyhounds' lone tally at this point. Attempting to clear the ball he passed to Bob Rogers. Rogers was checked by a Hopkins defenseman, and the ball bounced over the net-tender's head for a score.

Hopkins widened the lead at this point by adding two more points, and the count was 4-1 when the first stanza ended. Substituting freely, they racked up an additional four points in the second quarter and left the field at half-time with a seven point advantage.

A third quarter rally added nine more counters to the home team's total, and the final frame found Blue Jay substitutes adding an additional two for the final 19-1 score.

Loyola Beaten Twice

The Greyhound lacrosse team dropped two encounters on successive weekends, when they were downed by Washington and Lee on May 2 by a 12-7 count and lost to Duke on May 9, 7-2. The Virginia contingent traveled to Evergreen for their encounter, and the Loyola-Duke contest was played at Durham, North Carolina.

The Generals, fielding a team composed completely of local boys, got off to a fast start by chalking up seven goals in the first half. Henry Walker and Bill Connolly tallied one apiece for the Hounds. Miller, Bob Connor, McGuinness, Hughes and Rogers scored for the Greyhounds in the second half, while Washington and Lee also tallied five to put the game on ice.

The Blue Devils were never in trouble as they defeated the Green and Gray ten on their home field. The Duke aggregation took a nearly lead and held Bish Baker's charges scoreless for three quarters of the contest.

In the final period Henry Walker dented the net twice for the only Loyola tallies of the day.

Greyhounds Defeat La Salle, 9-0, 5-4

The Greyhound baseball team took both ends of a home and home series with LaSalle College of Philadelphia to fatten their win record. In the first game, played in Philadelphia on May 6, the Hounds took a 3-0 decision, and in the second game, played at Evergreen last Saturday, they squeezed through with a 4-3 win over the Explorers.

Dick Farace took the hill in the initial contest and held the home team to six hits. He fanned seven men and allowed only four walks during his nine innings on the mound. The Greyhounds gathered six safeties, including doubles by Ben Spurrier and Jim Carmody.

In the game on the Loyola diamond last Saturday Neill Cole got credit for the win, although he was relieved by Sid Roche in the eighth. LaSalle garnered ten hits while the Loyola nine rapped out eight.

The Explorers took charge of proceedings in the early part of the game by scoring a run in the first and second innings. The Hounds knotted the count in the fourth frame and, after two additional scoreless innings, put the game on ice with a two run rally in the last of the seventh. Jack Whalen, playing the keystone position for Loyola, was responsible for the victory.

Father Arthur Announces Athletic Awards Dinner

Father Robert P. Arthur, Faculty Moderator of Athletics announced recently that the Athletic Association is sponsoring a buffet supper to be held on June 14 at 8 p.m. The supper will be held at the gym here at Evergreen.

The affair will be in the nature of an athletic awards dinner; letters and sweaters, medals and trophies will be presented to Loyola athletes competing during the last year.

Ned Stevenson Toastmaster

The alumni are presently organizing an entertainment program for the supper. Ned Stevenson, B squad basketball and baseball coach and instructor in English, will be toastmaster for the occasion.

One of the highlights of the evening will be the presentation of the Jack Dempsey Adam Hat Sports Welfare Trophy to Jim Lacy, Jr., Loyola basketball and tennis ace. Lacy will be awarded the trophy as the outstanding athlete at Loyola during the past year. The student body recently voted him that honor in an election conducted by THE GREYHOUND Sports Staff.

Ticket Prices

Father Arthur announced that tickets for the supper are now on sale and that the prices are: $1.75 for students and faculty members and $2.00 for general admission. This dinner is open to parents of students and friends of the college. Students are invited to bring dates.

The deadline for tickets will be June 9. Men due to receive awards will, of course, be admitted free. Father Arthur expects about 500 people for the supper.

Rev. Robert P. Arthur, S.J.

Alumni who cannot easily get to Evergreen to pick up tickets at the gym or the Dean of Discipline's Office may secure them by mailing their check. The office will mail out tickets promptly on receipt.

Father Arthur has expressed a desire to have as many students and Alumni attend this function as possible. In this way he feels that the school will be paying well-deserved tribute to those men whose work brought Mason-Dixon Conference championships to Loyola, both in basketball and in those Spring sports in which Loyola teams emerged from league competition victoriously. He also feels that this supper will be a means of increasing the strong school spirit which has been built up among the student body and the Alumni Association this year.

Loyola Track Team Defeats Towson State

Loyola's track team won its first intercollegiate track meet by defeating Towson State Teachers, 69 to 31, in a Mason-Dixon Conference dual meet at Evergreen. The Greyhounds won all but one running event; there were several ties for first places.

Jack McCollum won three events: he and Lou Roche were tied for first in the 100, but he took the 220 and the broad jump. Roche also won the 880 yd. run, and was anchor man on Loyola's winning mile relay team.

The summaries:

Phil Lohrey, muscular co-captain of the Greyhound wrestling team, has been accepted for admission to the United States Military Academy at West Point, it was announced recently. Phil received a telegram from Mayor-elect D'Alesandro last week congratulating him on passing all requirements for entrance.

While at Loyola, Phil participated in three sports. Besides his wrestling work, he hurled the shotput for the Greyhound track team and was a member of Bish Baker's lacrosse squad. A high school football player, Lohrey has hopes of gaining a berth on the Cadet eleven.

Beginning with the fall term the newly formed Music Department of Loyola College will function under the complete direction of Mr. Felice Iula.

Mr. Iula will offer courses in Music Appreciation and Basic Elements of Voice and Instrumentation, augmented by courses in solfeggio, ear training, and harmony where necessary. He will be the director of the Loyola College Glee Club, Orchestra and Band, and in addition will be in charge of all social activities of a musical nature. When asked what kind of music he preferred for college work, Mr. Iula said: "We will try to form a repertoire to compete with the other groups of the country, and our selection will be designed to satisfy those who perform and those who listen. I will devote my full attention to the men of Loyola, and any questions they may have I hope they will feel free to ask me at any time."

Mr. Iula studied Harp at the Boston Conservatory under Mr. Heinrich Schuecker and later Orchestration and Conducting from Gustave Strube. He is a native Baltimorean and comes from an exceptionally musical family, various members of which are widely known orchestra conductors and soloists. Later he studied Harmony with O. B.
